TODAY'S GOSPEL MESSAGE

Sunday, July 29th

John 6:1-15

“Philip answered [Jesus], ‘Two hundred days’ wages worth of food would not be enough for each of them to have a little.’ Jesus said, ‘Have the people recline.’ So the men reclined, about five thousand in number. Then Jesus took the loaves, gave thanks, and distributed them to those who were reclining, and also as much of the fish as they wanted. When they had had their fill, he said to his disciples, ‘Gather the fragments left over, so that nothing will be wasted.’ So they collected them, and filled twelve wicker baskets with fragments from the five barley loaves that had been more than they could eat.”

“In the Gospel, it is an unnamed boy who has five barley loaves and two fish...the generosity of one is multiplied to satisfy everyone present.”

Saint Ignatius of Loyola

Priest

Memorial: July 31

Saint Ignatius of Loyola ministered to the poor and sick and had mystical experiences that formed the basis of his book of Spiritual Exercises. He earned a masters degree from the University of Paris. “There he gathered other students for service to Jesus. After ordination the group went to Rome, where they became the Society of Jesus, or Jesuits. Like him, may we learn ‘to find God in all things.’”

Saint Alphonsus Liguori

Memorial: August 1

Saint Alphonsus Liguori was a lawyer and later decided to become a priest and later became a bishop. “He founded an order of missionary priests that became the Redemptorists. WEEKLY RUNDOWN

Homeless Family Program

Hosted by OLMC

July 29 – August 5, 2018

Last year fr. Dan challenged us in the spirit of Pope Francis' call to "Open the doors of mercy!" After working for two years and a successful inaugural run last summer, a new opportunity has arrived!

The OLMC community is opening her doors this week to working homeless families as part of the temporary housing program run by Family Promise of Bergen County.

A mom with a three-month boy and 10-year old daughter and a mom with two boys, ages three and six, will be staying in our Academy. We will provide shelter, dinner, breakfast and supply lunch. The families only eat and sleep here during the evening hours; during the day they work and their children attend daycare and summer camp.

Please offer up the volunteers, organizers and families in your prayers during this time of service that the Spirit of God fosters within us a successful event.

May OLMC continue to be a place that "No matter who you are, no matter what you've done, no matter where you're from, no matter where you're going, no matter how good or bad things seem, you are always welcome."

Family Promise

The Family Promise Network is a Sheltering Program for working homeless families with dependent children. Local congregations around Bergen County host up to 14 people at a time on a weekly rotating schedule. Families are provided with safe and comfortable shelter, three meals, companionship, and support. Host congregation volunteers, along with others from neighboring congregations, interact with families, play with the children, and act as overnight hosts.

During the day families have access to the Nancy S. Woods Family Center, from which they leave for work, school, or daycare. Showers, laundry facilities, and computers for homework and job searches are available. Family Case Managers work with all families on a regular basis to set goals and develop a plan that empowers them to return to self-sufficiency. Volunteers in the Network and the community at large assist Family Promise staff develop resources for jobs, educational opportunities, affordable housing, reliable transportation, dependable daycare, and other necessities.

SEVEN THEMES OF CATHOLIC SOCIAL TEACHING

The Church's social teaching is a rich treasure of wisdom about building a just society and living lives of holiness amidst the challenges of modern society. The following themes are at the heart of Catholic social teaching:

1. Life and dignity of the human person
2. Call to family, community, and participation
3. Rights and responsibilities
4. Option for the poor and vulnerable
5. The dignity of work and the rights of workers
6. Solidarity
7. Care for God's creation

“Imagine if we discovered that all highly engaged Catholics had four things in common. Then imagine if it could be demonstrated that when someone started embracing these four things they were relatively quickly transformed from a disengaged Catholic into a highly engaged Catholic.

Highly engaged Catholics have four things in common, the four signs of a Dynamic Catholic:

1. Prayer: Dynamic Catholics have a daily commitment to prayer.
2. Study: Dynamic Catholics are continuous learners.
3. Generosity: Dynamic Catholics are generous.
4. Evangelization: Dynamic Catholics invite others to grow spiritually by sharing the love of God with them.”

WEEKLY RUNDOWN

OLMC Medical Mission To José Galvez, Peru Is Fast Approaching!

Medical Mission team member, Rosemary Russell, reports about a recent trip to José Galvez, Peru...

On our exploratory trip to Peru last year, we investigated two potential sites for a medical mission – José Galvez and Piura. We chose José Galvez because we knew there were people there who would be well served by a medical mission and because it had a strong Carmelite presence. Recently, three of us—Fr. Dan, Vincent Ty and myself—journeyed back to José Galvez to cement logistics and support for the mission. In a busy three days, our initial reasons for selecting José Galvez were validated many times over.

José Galvez is about ninety minutes from the Lima airport. It is an extremely dusty area dominated by the largest cement factory in Latin America. While this may provide some jobs, the majority of José Galvez inhabitants seem to scramble for their livelihood. Health care is available but out of reach of many of them; only those few with private insurance see doctors regularly. Like many other countries, the clinic doctor might be available but the cost of medicine is untouchable. Bringing a medical mission to these people is a great opportunity.

The Carmelite presence in José Galvez is multi-tiered and the Carmelite community is ready to support our mission in whatever way is necessary. Fr. Jerry Payea, director of the novitiate in Lurín, had scouted sites that would provide geographic diversity and reach as many people as possible. In addition to Our Lady of Mount Carmel, where we will be stationed for one day, we visited three other sites.

At Santa Teresita Chapel, we met with two Carmelite sisters who had wonderful ideas on how to publicize the mission as well as how to deal with the bureaucracy. “Just tell them that the people need this!” Unfortunately, I think their methods work only if one wears a habit. Instead, we had an hours long visit to the Ministry of Health, accompanied by Monica, the secretary to the Carmelite novitiate program, to discuss proper filings to obtain temporary medical licenses and tax free status for our shipment of donated goods. Monica is a saint in my book!

Our visit to the San José rehab facility, which provides life-changing therapy to addicts from several countries as well as local citizens, left us overwhelmed by the extent of their program and the dedication of their program director. They are happy to host our mission for at least a day and will canvas the surrounding neighborhoods to publicize it. It was clearly a case of not knowing what to expect when we entered their wooden doors. Beyond the chapel, the kitchen and dining rooms and the dormitory lay an entire barnyard of animals used for therapy and food supply, a computer lab and classroom and an enormous shop where they manufacture iron crosses and other items. We were sent off by a rousing rendition of a Marian hymn.

The fourth proposed site is a small elementary school at the edges of the parish. Trinity School was started by a young man who strongly believes learning English is necessary for the children to succeed in life. With donated monies and grants, he has begun a program to prepare graduates for life outside of the isolated villages in which many of them live. The children insisted we visit their classrooms where we were hugged and high fived and greeted with their “Good morning. How are you?”

Everyone we spoke with was enthused and supportive of our mission. We left with renewed commitment and cannot wait to return in October.

In 1976 the Convent Nuestra Señora del Carmen was established in José Galvez. The Carmelites eventually took responsibility of administering the parish of Nuestra Señora del Carmen and Santa Teresita in José Galvez.

It inspires the courage with which to fulfill
