Our Lady of Mount Carmel Mission Statement

“We are the Roman Catholic Community of

Our Lady of Mount Carmel based in Tenafly, New Jersey.

Our mission is the promotion of the holiness of life through the celebration of the Sacraments, the sharing of the Gospel and the promotion of Catholic values.

We offer pastoral care through ministries that provide education, healing, spiritual growth and social outreach in the Carmelite tradition.”

*“No matter who you are, no matter what you’ve done, no matter where you’re from, no matter where you’re going,
no matter how good or bad things seem,
you are always welcome.”*

TODAY'S GOSPEL MESSAGE

Sunday, January 2nd
Matthew 2:1-12

“When Jesus was born in Bethlehem of Judea, in the days of King Herod, behold, magi from the east arrived in Jerusalem, saying, ‘Where is the newborn king of the Jews? We saw his star at its rising and have come to do him homage’ . . . They were overjoyed at seeing the star, and on entering the house they saw the child with Mary his mother. They prostrated themselves and did him homage.”

“The magi relied on both science and faith to guide them to the Lord. They observed the night sky and studied the movement of the stars and planets, drawing conclusions from the travels of these heavenly bodies. Without knowing what this remarkable star was, they realized its importance and journeyed all the way to Jerusalem. But, still a few miles from their destination, they needed guidance from the chief priests and the scribes to direct them to Bethlehem. By science or faith alone, they did not know enough; together, they found the Lord.”

Blessing Of Homes On The Epiphany Of The Lord

“The traditional method for blessing homes this day [uses] incense, chalk (an incarnational image because it reminds us of the dust of the earth from which we were made), and “Jordan water.” The chalk is used to mark 20 + C + M + B + 22 over doorways. The numerals consecrate the new year. The initials remind us of the legendary names of the magi—Caspar, Melchior, and Balthasar—and also stand for the Latin motto Christus, mansionem benedicat (“May Christ bless the house”).”

EPIPHANY PROCLAMATION

The proclamation of the date of Easter and the other moveable feasts on Epiphany dates from a time when calendars were not readily available. It was necessary to make known the date of Easter in advance, since many celebrations of the liturgical year depend on its date. The number of Sundays that follow Epiphany, the date of Ash Wednesday, and the number of Sundays that follow Pentecost are all computed in relation to Easter.

Although calendars now give the date of Easter and the other feasts in the liturgical year for many years in advance, the Epiphany proclamation still has value. It is a reminder of the centrality of the resurrection of the Lord in the liturgical year and the importance of the great mysteries of faith that are celebrated each year.

Know, dear brothers and sisters, that, as we have rejoiced at the Nativity of our Lord Jesus Christ, so by leave of God's mercy we announce to you also the joy of his Resurrection, who is our Savior.

On the second day of March will fall Ash Wednesday, and the beginning of the fast of the most sacred Lenten season.

On the seventeenth day of April you will celebrate with joy Easter Day, the Paschal feast of our Lord Jesus Christ.

On the twenty-sixth day of May will be the Ascension of our Lord Jesus Christ.

On the fifth day of June, the feast of Pentecost.

On the sixteenth day of June, the feast of the Most Holy Body and Blood of Christ.

On the twenty-seventh day of November, the First Sunday of the Advent of our Lord Jesus Christ, to whom is honor and glory for ever and ever. Amen.

O God,
by your heavenly star,
you guided those who were wise
to your beloved Son, Jesus Christ.
May your blessing come to rest on us.
Make us wise with your wisdom,
energized by your love,
and ready to proclaim
your Son as our Savior.
May your Word made flesh
make his home among us.
Amen.

“Home By Another Way”

by Deacon Lex Ferraiola

Then Herod secretly called the Magi and determined from them the exact time the star appeared. And he sent them to Bethlehem and said, “Go and search carefully for the Child; and when you have found him, report to me, so that I too may come and worship him.” . . . [But] having been warned by God in a dream not to return to Herod, the Magi left for their own country by another way.

The way of the world tends to be self-centered. Its basic human nature is to look out for myself; to put my own wants and needs ahead of others; to see my opinion and worldview as being the only correct one. It’s kind of like original sin. But as followers of Jesus, we, like the Magi in the Gospel for the Feast of the Epiphany, are called to go home by another way.

King Herod, the villain in the above Gospel, represents self-centeredness and the pull of the world. There’s a little echo of Herod’s voice in all of us. Call it my own personal Herod. And this basic human tendency is an obstacle to following Jesus and to becoming an instrument of compassion, forgiveness, and mercy for our world. It’s an obstacle to going home.

For us, like the Magi, the only way back home is through the manger. But to enter we need to leave our baggage at the door because the manger is small, there’s only room enough for a compassionate, forgiving, and merciful heart.

Our own personal Herod lies and tries to trick us like he tried to trick the Magi. He wants us to hold onto our baggage: to any hurt, bitterness, prejudice, or selfishness that we’ve been carrying. He tells us that our opinion is the only correct one.

He tells us that there are certain people — living or dead — whom we can never forgive, never show mercy to, never accept: people who may have hurt us deeply, people or groups of people we feel morally superior to. He wants us to ignore Jesus’ call to unconditional compassion, forgiveness, and mercy. He wants to keep us out of that manger and to stop us from getting home.

Where the Magi had a dream to lead them safely home, we have the example of Jesus in the Gospel. No one had to grovel for forgiveness in the New Testament. Jesus embraced lepers; he sat down to eat with tax cheats and prostitutes; he didn’t tell the woman at the well to stay away until she fixed her multiple marriages. The things that brought out anger in Jesus were hypocrisy and self-righteousness.

As we come to the end of this Christmas season and begin to journey through a new year of life, let us examine our hearts. Are we compassionate, forgiving and merciful, or do we carry a grudge? Are our doors and telephones always open to others, or are there family members and friends we have shut out? Are we inclusive and non-judgmental, or do we exclude others because they are different or don’t measure up to our moral standards? Are we present to the poor, the sick, and those held captive in many kinds of prisons? Are we welcoming the stranger and those fleeing violence, persecution, and disaster?

Let us pray for the grace to open any closed chambers of our hearts. Let us offer not just Christmas gifts and wishes to a few, but rather a lifetime of compassion, forgiveness, and mercy to all our sisters and brothers, without exception. And let us leave our baggage at the door of the manger and go home by another way.

Pope Francis’

“We pray for all those suffering from religious discrimination and persecution; may their own rights and dignity be recognized, which originate from being brothers and sisters in the human family.”

MORNING & EVENING GROUPS

The Remains of the Day by Kazuo Ishiguro

From the winner of the Nobel Prize in Literature, here is the universally acclaimed novel—winner of the Booker Prize and the basis for an award-winning film. This is Kazuo Ishiguro's profoundly compelling portrait of Stevens, the perfect butler, and of his fading, insular world in post-World War II England. Stevens embarks on a journey through the past in an effort to reassure himself that he has served humanity by serving the "great gentleman," Lord Darlington. But lurking in his memory are doubts about the true nature of Lord Darlington's "greatness," and much graver doubts about the nature of his own life.

Religious Education

EXAMINATION OF CONSCIENCE FOR KIDS

Based on the Ten Commandments.
This week we look at the first five Commandments.

First Commandment

“You shall have no other gods before me.”

Make God the most important thing in your life.

Have I put God first, or have I sometimes made other things in my life more important than God? Do I remember to talk to God? Do I choose what God wants for me over what I want for myself?

Second Commandment

“You shall not make wrongful use of the name of the LORD your God.”

Use God’s name the right way. Have I used God’s name with care? Have I used God’s name in the wrong way (for example, saying “God” when I wasn’t really talking to Him or talking about Him)?

Third Commandment

“Observe the Sabbath day and keep it holy.”

Make Sunday a day to worship God. Have I tried my best to worship God at Mass by singing, praying, and listening? Have I misbehaved during Mass?

Fourth Commandment

“Honor your father and your mother.”

Love your parents and follow their rules. Have I obeyed my parents—even when they are not looking? Have I talked back to them?

Fifth Commandment

“You shall not murder.”

Be kind to the people and animals God made. Have I been kind to others? Have I solved disagreements in a peaceful way? Have I fought with anyone? Have I taken good care of my pets?
