TODAY'S GOSPEL MESSAGE

Sunday, April 21, 2024

John 10:11-18

Jesus said: "I am the good shepherd. A good shepherd lays down his life for the sheep. . . I am the good shepherd, and I know mine and mine know me, just as the Father knows me and I know the Father; and I will lay down my life for the sheep. . . I have power to lay it down, and power to take it up again. This command I have received from my Father."

Reflection

"Jesus is the Good Shepherd, willing to lay down his life for the sheep. He tells his disciples that he received this command from the Father. So too have we, called to die to our own selves to raise up the lives of others, whether sacrificing our time and energy to care for a young child, an aging parent, a loved who is ill, or a friend in need. In doing so we are entrusting our lives to the Good Shepherd, who laid down his life for us and takes up our lives with his to eternal salvation."

The Secret Life Of Sunflowers: A gripping, inspiring novel based on the true story of Johanna Bonger, Vincent van Gogh's sister-in-law by Marta Molnar

When Hollywood auctioneer Emsley Wilson finds her famous grandmother's diary while cleaning out her New York brownstone, the pages are full of surprises. The first surprise is, the diary isn't her grandmother's. It belongs to Johanna Bonger, Vincent van Gogh's sister-in-law. Johanna inherited Vincent van Gogh's paintings. They were all she had, and they weren't worth anything. Yet she managed to introduce Vincent's legacy to the world.

“We Are All Called To Be Good Shepherds”

by Deacon Lex Ferraiola

“The Lord is my shepherd:
I shall not want...
He makes me to lie down
in green pastures:
he leads me beside still waters...
he anoints my head with oil...”

Psalm 23:1-5

In preparing for this reflection I researched what it meant to be a good shepherd way back in the time of Jesus. I came away from my research with a great respect for shepherds. Sheep are innocent and lovable creatures, but without a good shepherd they are totally defenseless. They are at the mercy of wild animals, storms, and robbers.

The vocation of being a shepherd was something very special. They were sometimes called to risk their own lives to protect their sheep. In the book of Samuel in the Old Testament, King David, as a young shepherd boy, fought off a bear and a lion to protect the family flock. To be a good shepherd was to be a loving and courageous human being.

In my ministry as a hospital chaplain for our brothers and sisters suffering with anxiety, depression, and addiction, I often reflect on Psalm 23. In it the Psalm writer, who we believe to be King David, proclaims, “The Lord is my shepherd.” I always focus on one line in particular: “He anoints my head with oil.” I explain how in ancient times, and even still today, shepherds rub oil on the heads of their sheep to give them peace and comfort.

Continued . . .

This is necessary because when a large number of sheep are gathered together, these little microscopic insects, these little gnats, are attracted by the smell of wool. They buzz around the heads and torment these poor sheep, these creatures helpless to swat them away. The shepherd anoints the head of each sheep and rubs in this special oil. The fragrance repels and drives away the insects leaving the sheep in peace.

I explain to my hospital friends that we are like those sheep. Only instead of insects buzzing around us, we sometimes are plagued by negative thoughts that buzz inside our heads. They are the anxieties and guilt and anger, the obsessions and compulsions that we carry. They can lead us into depression or addiction, into loneliness and self-alienation.

But just like those good Mediterranean shepherds who anoint the heads of their sheep, our loving God anoints our human heads—he anoints us with the oil of his unconditional love and forgiveness; he anoints us to free us from the thoughts that torment us.

Jesus is our Good Shepherd. But, that’s not the end of the story. We are called to be more than helpless, passive sheep. We are each called to be active good shepherds as well.

As we continue our journey through this Easter season, let us resolve to be good shepherds for all our sisters and brothers—without exception, and to anoint them with the oil of our love and compassion, our forgiveness and inclusion.

“God thinks like the shepherd who lays down his life in order to defend and save his sheep.”

—Pope Francis

All sacraments are necessarily related to baptism, the first sacrament we celebrate. First Communion is an extension of that day as children are welcomed to the family meal—the Eucharist. Please work with your child on the workbook and banner kit you received at the First Eucharist Parent Meeting. There will be two First Communion Masses. At least one parent and their child are asked to attend the rehearsal for the First Communion Mass they have chosen.

First Communion Date:

Saturday, May 11th at 11 AM

Rehearsal: Thursday, May 9th at 3:30 PM

Congratulations to our teens who received the Sacrament of Confirmation on April 17. May they know the richness of God’s blessings in their lives and may their faith be a constant source of strength and happiness as they face life’s challenges and experience life’s joys.
